What our Guardians have to Say

I am the guardian of an individual who receives services through Samlind. With full disclosure, I actually have worked for Samlind now for 14 years. So I have an inside perspective. For the majority of my years as the Samlind Director, my individual received services through one of our competitors. I believed that as long as he is getting good care, he was fine where he was. Once the care began to deteriorate and my individual's health was being compromised, I decided to bring him to the company for which I worked.

My decision was based on the fact that at that point, I had worked for Samlind nearly 10 years. Without a shadow of a doubt, I knew that I could trust Samlind to do what is best for "My Kenny". As a member of the administrative team at Samlind I knew that the Samlind motto "Compassion is Our Passion" is not simply what we say. It is what we do! Since my individual has been with Samlind, he is healthy, happy and staff take excellent care of him. I have been in the field for nearly 30 years. I have always required quality care for clients. At Samlind, you will not find perfection, but you will find quality care and an honest strive for perfection. Samlind puts their heart in what they do. I know it from the inside and out.

Compassion is Our Passion

My son has been with Samlind almost 17 years. They always have been responsive to his needs and have acted quickly to any requests or issue. The staff working with my son o everything possible to ensue my son's safety and happiness. They are great people and I appreciate all that they do.

-Pat O'Neill (Father/Guardian)

The years my son was with Samlind, in my opinion, were the best of his life. He was taken by the Lord, however. He had cerebral palsy and required 24- hour care. Samlind brought him to family holiday gatherings, graduation open houses, took him to the Notre Dame Women's basketball games, church, and other various activities within the community. He was even Honorary Best Man at one of the Samlind administrator's wedding. My son had behavior issues along with the physical disability. The Samlind group stood by him and helped him through all those issues. They were his second family.

Hear what our guardians have to say

My brother passed away a few years back. He had been with Samlind for over six years. What I appreciated most about Samlind is that they really do care about the individuals they serve. If there is a problem, the managers work to correct it as quickly as possible. Upper management works hard to know what is going on with each client and is very concerned that they are getting the best treatment. My brother overall received good care from Samlind. They really respect the guardians and work as a team to keep the individual's best interest in mind. I'd trust them to care for my loved one. It would be worth your while to give them a second look!

-Christi Milliken (Sister)

When selecting an agency to facilitate Structured Family Caregiving (SFC) formerly known as Adult Foster Care, I needed someone who would be there for me and the clients when we needed them. I needed someone who would truly and genuinely care about the lives of the individuals I serve, and someone who would understand the task a guardian has taken on. That was Samlind all wrapped up in a blessing of a package.
